

Slate Gallery Proposal

Hello Slate Gallery,

My name is Shawn Morrel. I am an artist and local resident to this area of Waltham Forest. I would like to present a proposal to you for exhibition space at the Slate Gallery. As this is a community space, I would like to propose an exhibit based on Community and Multiculturalism. I have a series of works called the “Urban Moment” series, which conceptualizes this idea. I think a city like London would appreciate this concept as it surrounds the city.

My paintings are done in acrylic on canvas. They are generally around 16”x20” and 20”x24”. If I were to be selected for gallery exhibition, I would plan on hanging them against the black backdrop in the window space. As I do not have all of my original paintings here in the U.K., some of them will be digital prints mounted on boards. I have uploaded an example of some of my artwork below.
